Built on the site of Dury Falls High School, it opened in September 1991, and educates full-time students between the age of 16 and 19. The faculty offers a wide range of disciplines, in A-level, BTEC and diploma formats, among others. The current director is Paul Wakeling. Courses The college offers many study programs for students of different skills and talents. The qualifications offered include: Level AS (Level 3) Level A (Level 3) BTEC (Level 2, Level 3, Grade 4 Art) GCSE (Level 2) iLEX (Level 2) In addition to these, students are required to take at least one enrichment course in the first year. Although not a qualification in itself, this fills the student's schedule and gives them the opportunity to explore their interests. Most Senior Sixth Graders are also required to do General Studies. However, the International Baccalaureate has been formally offered, now that is no longer the case. Enrichment courses The college offers a range of complementary enrichment courses for students to study alongside the qualifications chosen. Many of these courses are part of a Fundamental Skills qualification in Communications, required for those who have earned a C or lower grade in English at GCSE level. If the enrichment course chosen by the student does not incorporate key skills, then the student must study this subject separately to obtain a Key Skills qualification. In recent years,[when did the college make it mandatory for students to receive a qualification equal to an ICT qualification 2, and level 2 communications. However, these will not be necessary if these qualifications have already been received in any form of education in a way that considers it irrelevant to study them in college. Buildings The college is divided into nine main buildings, or blocks: Library Wing (ICT, computing, history, politics, health and social assistance) Science Ward (sciences) Theatre Wing (performing arts, music) Dury Falls Wing (business studies, economics, law) Newcourt (sociology, psychology, mathematics, law) Gatehouse (English, classical, languages) Minster Court (art, graphics, photography, product design, media) Horsa Building (art, Dance) International Building (geography, religious studies, philosophy, archaeology) Berners-Lee House (ICT, computing) Olympia House (Travel and Tourism) Facilities Grand Hall Athletics Gymnasium completely refurbished, complete with all kinds of exercise machines Fully equipped theater space, with lighting, sound and recording facilities Numerous soundproof recording studios Comprehensive Library with internet capabilities College Council The opinions of the student body are expressed through the University Council , which is composed of at least one representative per group of tutors, as well as members of subcommittees, including executive, catering, environmental, charitable and social committees. The full board meets each semester to get feedback from each committee and discuss/vote on issues that representatives bring from their tutor group members.
